

COVID-19 SPECIFIC BEREAVEMENT RESOURCE

CCaNNI have liaised with the regional bereavement coordinators to identify the local response to implications of COVID-19 on our ability to facilitate visits to patients.

This is particularly pertinent for our critical care patients and their families as it significantly impacts on our ability to provide emotional support and comfort, especially at end of life.

Learning from our regional colleagues indicated a memento, with one piece given to the family and another to the patient, was welcomed as a token of remembrance.

We have developed this to include resource for several members of a family to record a message on a wooden heart, these can be placed in a small bag provided to be brought to their loved one by a member of staff.
